Gingerbread Men

These Gingerbread men are cute and very easy to make. Create these to hang separately on your tree or string together as a garland.

Gently sand all pieces to remove any rough edges

Paint two flourishes in Red and two in Olive, and set aside for later.

Choose a paper range and cut five 19cm x 12.5cm (7.5" x 5") rectangles. Cover each Gingerbread man in your chosen paper, then turn over and trim around the edges to remove the excess paper.

Punch or cut out three 1.5cm (½") circles in coordinating paper for each Gingerbread Man. These can be adhered using foam tape for added dimension. Stick a clear droplet over each one to make them look like buttons.

Doodle or adhere ric rak around the edges as a border. Decorate each gingerbread man using ribbons, rub-ons and other left over embellishments you have. Draw on a face to make your Gingerbread Men come to life!

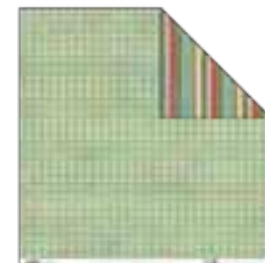

Trim around the holes in the hands and use album rings to join each Man and the flourishes together. Attach ribbons to the rings to complete the project.

Hint

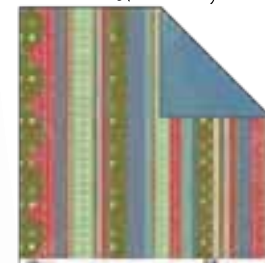

To hang your Men separately cut away paper from the holes at the top and thread them with loops of ribbon.
